When I studied at school, I was (especially) good at history because I like it. I was interested in learning something new and listening to stories from all over the world about different historical events. At school I got into the habit of reading a lot. My favorite books were about the era of the new time, I think it's very interesting age. Then I decided to become a politic, because it is very good profession and I wanted to go to the faculty of international relations. But soon I became a technician and decided to become a programmer.

Therefore I entered the technical college. I must study for 4 years. To become a good specialist in my sphere you need to learn a lot of technical subjects and know a lot of computer science.

The job duties of a programmer are typing of good code and creating new program.

Graduating from college is a major milestone. Some students see college as a major goal, when in reality it is simply a step to other future life achievements. Job prospects are excellent for well-educated programmers with relevant experience and a passion for their work. Employers prefer to hire specialists who are familiar with the latest technology. Marketing, sales, technical resources, logistical and technical support are all possible career options for programmers. I think I shall make a good programmer.
